Art & Design

| K n o w l e d g e | Ideas can be developed through diverse materials, e.g. light, projected image, loose parts, watercolours, powder paint | Ideas can be created through observation (looking closely), imagination (creating pictures in the mind) and memory (remembering experiences from the past). | Materials and techniques that are well suited to different tasks include ink; smooth paper and polystyrene blocks for printing; hard and black pencils and cartridge paper for drawing lines and shading; poster paints, large brushes and thicker paper for large, vibrant paintings and clay, clay tools and slip for sculpting. | Visual elements include colour, line, shape, form, pattern and tone. | Materials, techniques and visual elements, such as line, tone, shape, pattern, colour and form, can be combined to create a range of effects. | Preliminary sketches and models are usually simple line drawings or trial pieces of sculpture that are created to explore ideas and techniques and plan what a final piece of art will look like. | In conceptual art, the idea or concept behind a piece of art is more important than the look of the final piece. |

They are often line drawings that are done in pencil. | Artists use sketching to develop an idea over time. | Ways to review and revisit ideas include annotating sketches and sketchbook pages, practising and refining techniques and making models or prototypes of the finished piece. | A mood board is an arrangement of images, materials, text and pictures that can show ideas or concepts. A montage is a set of separate images that are related to each other and placed together to create a single image. |

For example, watercolour paper is heavy and has a rough surface, drawing paper is of a medium weight and has a fairly smooth surface and handmade paper usually has a rough, uneven surface with visible fibres. Different media, such as pastels, or watercolour paint, can be added to papers to reveal texture and the rubbing technique, frottage, can be used to create a range of effects on different papers. | Warp and weft are terms for the two basic components used in loom weaving. The lengthwise warp yarns are fixed onto a frame or loom, while the weft yarns are woven horizontally over and under the warp yarns. | Malleable materials, such as clay, papier-mâché and Modroc, are easy to change into a new shape. Rigid materials, such as cardboard, wood or plastic, are more difficult to change into a new shape and may need to be cut and joined together using a variety of techniques. | Malleable materials, such as clay, papier-mâché and Modroc, are easy to change into a new shape. | Kn  0  wl  ed  ge | Uses their increasing knowledge and understanding to explore their interests and enquiries through paint, water colours | The primary colours are red, yellow and blue. | The secondary colours are green, purple and orange. These colours can be made by mixing primary colours together. | Examples of contrasting colours include red and green, blue and orange, purple (violet) and yellow. They are obviously different to one another and are opposite each other on the colour wheel. | Warm colours include orange, yellow and red. They remind the viewer of heat, fire and sunlight.  They can make people feel happy and they look like they are in the foreground of a picture. Cool colours include blue, green and magenta. Cool colours remind the viewer of water, ice, snow and the sky. They can make people feel calm or lonely and they recede into the background of a picture. | A tint is a colour mixed with white, which increases lightness, and a shade is a colour mixed with black, which increases darkness. | Different artistic movements often use colour in a distinctive way. Expressionist artists use intense, non-naturalistic colours. Impressionist artists use complementary colours.  Fauvist artists use flat areas or patches of colour.  Naturalist artists use realistic colours. |

Hard pencils create lighter lines and are marked with an H for hard. Different types of line include zigzag, wavy, curved, thick and thin. | Textures include rough, smooth, ridged and bumpy. Tone is the lightness or darkness of a colour. Pencils can create lines of different thicknesses and tones and can also be smudged. Ink can be used with a pen or brush to make lines and marks of varying thicknesses, and can be mixed with water and brushed on paper as a wash. Charcoal can be used to create lines of different thicknesses and tones, and can be rubbed onto paper and smudged. | Hatching, cross-hatching and shading are techniques artists use to add texture and form. | Pen and ink create dark lines that strongly contrast with white paper. Pen and ink techniques include hatching (drawing straight lines in the same direction to fill in an area), cross-hatching (layering lines of hatching in different directions) and random lines (drawing lines of a variety of shapes. | Line is the most basic element of drawing and can be used to create outlines, contour lines  to make images three-dimensional and for shading in the form of cross-hatching. Tone is the relative lightness and darkness of a colour. Different types of perspective include one-point perspective (one vanishing point on the horizon line), two-point perspective (two vanishing points on the horizon line) and three-point perspective (two vanishing points on the horizon line and one below the ground, which is usually used for images of tall buildings seen from above). | Blending is the gentle merging of two or more colours, shades, tints or tones to soften lines and create a gradual transition between them. Stippling makes dots on the page and by adding other layers of colour creates depth. Light tones are created when lines or dots are drawn further apart and dark tones are created when lines or dots are drawn closer together. |

| K n o w l l e d g d | Uses their increasing knowledge and understanding to explore their interests and enquiries through The use of printing (texture and materials) | A print is a shape or image that has been made by transferring paint, fabric paint, ink or other media from one surface to another. | A block print is made when a pattern is carved or engraved onto a surface, such as clay or polystyrene, covered with ink, and then pressed onto paper or fabric to transfer the ink. The block can be repeatedly used, creating a repeating pattern. | A two-colour print can be made in different ways, such as by inking a roller with two different colours before transferring it onto a block, creating a full print then masking areas of the printing block before printing again with a different colour or creating a full print then cutting away areas of the printing block before printing again. | Different printmaking techniques include monoprinting, engraving, etching, screen printing and lithography. | Some artists use text or photographic images to add interest or meaning to a print. | Printmakers create artwork by transferring paint, ink or other art materials from one surface to another. |
